ABOUT OUR SUNDAY SPEAKER

Dr. Michael McKay has been an Assistant Professor of Biblical Theology at Cedarville University in Ohio since the fall of 2017. Prior to this, he and his wife Lee-Ann (who is an administrative assistant for the Department of History and Government at Cedarville University) served with Ethnos 360 for nine years where he was a trainer for missionary candidates. Academically, his areas of interest have been the study of the Septuagint, biblical intertextuality, and the book of Hebrews. He has authored numerous scholarly papers.

Recent highlights of his global teachings and travels include leading pastors in Russia through a nine-hour course on the Pentateuch and guiding a group of Cedarville students (including his three adult children) through a tour of the Holy Land.

Aside from his studies, Dr. McKay enjoys reading, virtual reality/augmented reality technology, and board games.

This is how one should regard us, as servants of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God. Moreover, it is required of stewards that they be found faithful.

1 Corinthians 4:1-2, ESV

We invite you to remain after the Friday and Saturday evening services for fellowship and light refreshments.

Childcare for babies through kindergarten will be available during all services. Additionally, children of all ages are invited to accompany you to the services. Mission-minded activity bags will be available. Sunday morning childcare will be available as usual.
